DESIGN | BUILD CAPABILITIES

JohnsonDanforth & Associates (JDa) is a National, Service Disabled Veteran Owned Small Business (SDVOSB) Design/Build firm that offers a diverse array of construction and design phase services for our clients. Our team's diverse array of backgrounds in military service, facilities management, healthcare administration, clinical care, architecture, engineering, estimating, construction, project management, and risk management allow us to provide our clients the highest level of quality, service, and comfort in understanding that our team will maximize project dollars without compromising quality, durability, or functionality of their facilities.

Our team embraces a highly collaborative process that is dedicated to service and communication within the project team, and implements a pro-active approach to risk assessment and mitigation during the design and construction phases of our projects. Additionally, the JDa team only works with the very best consultants in their respective fields of expertise – ensuring that our clients receive only the best design and construction experience possible, and that our project teams can execute projects of any type and size.

DIFFERENTIATORS

The JohnsonDanforth team of Construction Project Managers, Estimators, Superintendents, Architects, Engineers, and Design Phase Project Managers is exceptionally familiar with multi-faceted client organizations and stakeholder groups, and complex project programs. Whether your project requires a traditional design/bid/build, design/build, negotiated bid, or an on-call contract dynamic - our diverse project experience, proactive design philosophy, and efficient construction delivery model are a great fit for any client or project type.

JDa's client-focused communication philosophy and comprehensive risk management plan combine to facilitate a more enjoyable project experience for the entire project team. We believe this mix of experience and commitment to quality will satisfy all of your project needs in reducing project risk and escalating costs – while delivering world-class service and satisfaction.
